Ready for hair extensions? Norma gives us the 411! By Lisa Wayne

THE 2-WORD QUESTIONNAIRE WITH HAIR STYLIST NORMA BOUZA

Why hair? I've always loved doing hair since I was little. I moved to LA and started working on Rodeo Drive at the José Eber Salon.

Your training? I observed and assisted in doing hair extensions for two years, and when it came time to get certified, the trainer came to the salon and did a one-on-one course with me. I took over the extension clientele and stayed there for about five years.

Your specialties? Custom extensions, coloring and getting extensions done fast! I have mastered the art of giving my clients the best in color matching—making the extensions undetectable. Clients won't sit in my chair for eight hours, so my other specialty is finishing up a full head in about two hours!

They last? Of course every client is different, but my hair extensions typically last from two to six months.

Extension benefits? They're endless! You can sprinkle lighter pieces around the head to eliminate high-lighting, grow out a bad haircut, and add fullness and length.

House calls? On-location and house calls are essential for my clientele. From busy house moms to busy businesswomen, there's not always time to make it into the salon. Also, celebrity clients often require privacy.

Your location? I have a very private and discreet room with two stations at the beautiful Cristophe Salon in Beverly Hills.

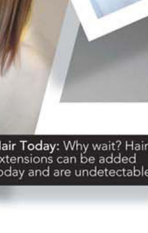

What's next? When a client comes in for a complimentary consultation, we discuss why they want extensions, how they work, and what maintenance is involved. Then we move on to matching the hair color and how to care for their extensions at home. I place the order for the extensions, which often arrive within a day or two. Then the client comes in for an amazing transformation!
